XXII International Colloquium, Reading, 12-16 July 2017

Première circulaire / First circular
Février 2016 / February 2016

Dear colleagues,

The XXIInd Colloquium of the International Reynard Society will be held in Reading, under the auspices of the Graduate Centre for Medieval Studies, 12-16 July 2017. Reading is conveniently situated, just 30 minutes by train from London and within easy access of Heathrow airport. Reading University's attractive campus is a short bus ride from the town centre : www.reading.ac.uk/about.aspx.

The conference will take place partly on campus, partly in the conference centre of the Reading City Centre Novotel, which also offers accommodation to the participants of our conference for a very reasonable £90 per room per night: : http://www.novotel.com/gb/hotel-5432-novotel-reading-centre/location.shtml.

As is our custom, we welcome offers of papers, posters or project reports on any topic relating to the animal world, but suggest two core directions for the colloquium:

- The animal as object (material culture; food; scientific texts)
- The animal as sign (hagiography, bestiaries, heraldry..)

Please send the title of your proposal (specifying whether it is for a paper, a project report or a poster) to : f.h.m.le-saux@reading.ac.uk. The languages of the conference will be French, English, Spanish and Italian.

We will be sending out our next circular letter with more detailed information this summer.

Looking forward to hearing from you soon,

Françoise Le Saux
